

Student Databases

Check out some of the great resources on the Edwardsville Public Library website. You can access these databases from your personal computer (if you have an Edwardsville library card barcode) or from a library computer:

Go to www.edwardsvillelibrary.org -- click on the Research tab, then choose from the list under “Student Resources”

Biography Resource Center (Reference Books)

Search for full text entries from CONTEMPORARY AUTHORS & CONTEMPORARY THEATER/FILM/TV reference series, plus many more sources!

Encyclopaedia Britannica

Start by searching specific subjects, then use the “Articles” link in the grey box to the right of an entry for more information.

Facts.com

Access “World News Digest” / “Issues & Controversies” / “Today’s Science” databases

FirstSearch (Journal Articles)

Search for full text articles using the “Wilson Select” Database

Gale (Journal Articles)

Click on “Gale”, then scroll down to “Student Edition” and then do a SUBJECT search for your topic. Remember to click on the “Full Text” button to get the best results

Milestone Documents in American History

Access some of our most important historical, political, and cultural documents

For 24/7 access to a regional librarian online, try the AskAway service – a consortium of hundreds of librarians across our region who staff this online service 7 days a week, 24 hours a day. No matter where you live, you can ask for information and a trained librarian will respond to your questions in a live chat session!

From the library home page: Click “Research” then “Ask a Librarian”
