

A. Dorothy

The Princes of Ireland by Edward Rutherford

"Traces multiple generations of the Irish people from the Pagan clans to the English oppression."

B. Mary

The Lost Letters of William Woolf by Helen Cullen

"I liked this book because it was part mystery (which I love to read) and part romance (which I usually don't read)."

C. Kristen

Sabrina by Nick Drnaso

"The subtle storytelling, rawness, and suspense kept me reading and watching the story unfold through the illustrations."

D. Jacob

Mr. Know-It-All by John Waters

"For my money, he's the Mark Twain of the 21st century."

E. Nathanael

The Lathe of Heaven by Ursula K. Le Guin

"It was written in a straight forward, but engaging style that kept me interested."

F. Joyce

Dutch Girl by Robert Matzen

"Through this book I learned of her work with the Resistance in Holland which was the beginning of her lifelong commitment to serving others."

G. Tara

Educated by Tara Westover

"Such an incredible memoir, I couldn't put it down."

H. Jill

Lanny by Max Porter

"It transported me to a different place that I didn't want to leave, and I love books that move me in unexpected ways."

I. Dawn

The Things We Cannot Say by Kelly Rimmer

"I haven't had a book make me cry so much in years - it is so moving and well written."

A

B

C

D

E

F

G

H

I

J. Cary

The Sentence is Death by Anthony Horowitz

"See if you enjoy following Anthony around as he trails after disgraced ex-cop, turned PI, Hawthorne as they "help" the real cops solve mysteries."

K. Jake

Red, White & Royal Blue by Casey McQuiston

"The base of the story is an old cliché but the take on it is so unique, so funny, and so original that it is really fresh and enjoyable."

L. Katherine

The Starless Sea by Erin Morgenstern

"There are only a few authors that I have found that have the ability to transport the reader in such a complete way into such lush, magical worlds."

M. Amanda

Middlegame by Seanan McGuire

"She paints characters so multi-faceted, sometimes you're not sure who you should be rooting for."

N. Allie

The Big Book of Female Detectives by Otto Penzler

"This anthology is a hidden gem."

O. Kaylee

Blanca & Roja by AnnaMarie McLemore

"What really endeared this book to me, however, was how much emotion the story was able to pull from me."

P. Krista

The Name of the Wind by Patrick Rothfuss

"I'm not usually a big fantasy reader, so this book was quite a wonderful surprise."

Q. Kelcey

Field Notes on Love by Jennifer E. Smith

"The first book in a long time that kept me up reading past my bedtime & also made me cry."

R. Devin

The Last Wish by Andrzej Sapkowski

"If you like fantasy stories with no black and white morality featuring a host of monsters more despicable than the last, this is the series for you."

